About the British Boarding Schools Show

After five years of year-on-year growth, the British Boarding Schools Show returns to Istanbul for the sixth time in 2019 for what promises to be the most successful show yet.

The Show is a unique opportunity for parents in Turkey to meet the Heads and Admissions Directors of Britain's most prestigious boarding schools. Sixteen top UK schools as well as education, property and relocation experts will be exhibiting, offering parents the opportunity to plan every aspect of their child's entry into the world's most prestigious English language schools. Get first-hand advice on entry requirements and academic scholarships and bursaries proves to be significantly more beneficial, creating initial ties with the relevant people ahead of your application.

Worldwide interest in British boarding schools continues to grow. There are currently 69,979 boarders in UK schools; 41% are from overseas families. The benefits of boarding at a leading British school are undisputed and importantly recognised by both university admissions teams and employers.

For the Istanbul market we have carefully refined the list of attending schools to ensure parents are put in front of the very best of British private education. The alumni these schools produce include business leaders, politicians, academics and athletes. These schools produce, high-achieving, well informed and confident alumni, who make excellent candidates for top UK and US universities.

Supporting the exhibiting schools will be top educational consultants who will be available throughout the show, offering advice and guidance on finding the very best education for your child. Leading this will be William Petty, Director at Bonas MacFarlane, London's leading educational consultancy. William has been featured in publications including The Times, The Economist and Tatler, and has appeared in BBC Radio 4's Today programme. We are also pleased to announce that this year's show is being sponsored by Bonas MacFarlane, British Airways and Tatler, who will be on hand with exclusive benefits.
